

The Polar Winds II data sets have been validated by comparison with dropsondes deployed during the campaign. Results have been published in peer-reviewed journals.